A productive, high-functioning team:

- ▶ Makes better, faster decisions
- ▶ Taps into the skills and opinions of all members
- ▶ Avoids wasting time and energy on politics, confusion and destructive conflict
- ▶ Avoids wasting time talking about the wrong issues and revisiting the same topics over and over again because of a lack of buy-in
- ▶ Creates a competitive advantage
- ▶ Is more fun to be on!

The Five Behaviors And Your Team

Remember, the behaviors can be relatively interrelated as they address issues that are often related. Start by identifying the most or most-related behaviors, and engaging even one of them to the success of a team. Consider the following connection:

LOW 1.00-2.99
MEDIUM 3.00-3.75
HIGH 3.75-5.00

RESULTS 2.3
ACCOUNTABILITY 2.3
COMMITMENT 2.5
CONFLICT 2.0
TRUST 3.1

Summary of Your Team's Survey Results

Your assessment score indicates that trust and commitment are likely areas of low accountability, conflict, and results are consistently areas for improvement.

Building Trust

The trust and functional behavior of a behavior has been to trust. Unfortunately, the word trust often does not mean the same thing to everyone. The definition for trust is based on a person's behavior based on past experience in similar situations, rather, in the context of trust.

It is important to be completely transparent with one another.
 Confidences shared have been revealed that trust partners are good and that the protection or control around the team.

Trust is the result of a continuing, consistent action. To make trust a habit, it must be always brought with trust because there is no quality or characteristic that is more important to trust.

Team Survey Results

The following table reflects the team's responses to the trust-related questions from the last eight of the questions reflect the team's average score on the assessment scale. The basis and distribution of responses within the team.

	ALMOST NEVER	RARELY	SOMETIMES	USUALLY

Team members actively engage in one another.	0.0	0.0	0.0	0.0

Common Distractions

What is needed to focus on results?

Teams have difficulty staying focused on results because of self-interest and self-protection. As part of the assessment, you and your team members have an opportunity to identify possible distractions from results to the participants on your team. The number of people out of 10 who selected each distraction appears next to the corresponding bar chart. Note: You need the votes to reach all of the votes.

Some distractions that keep us from focusing on results are:

- Lack of interest/motivation: 8 people
- Lack of time and energy: 8 people
- Inconsistent/chaotic processes and structure: 8 people
- Vague or shifting goals: 8 people
- More emphasis on personal goals than team goals: 8 people
- Engagement on career status or progression: 1 person

Points of Discussion

- The results of the survey indicate that a distraction for your team is "lack of interest/motivation." What level of influence directly or indirectly does your team have in making it greater?
- In the above table, you have identified the lack of time and energy as a major distraction. Are there currently resources in place to address this? (Consider how you can address this distraction and what it is important? What are the consequences of making a decision?)
